

Dear Property Owner,

November 1, 2020

Your commercial, multi-unit residential, or mixed-use property, is eligible for City trash and recycling service. The fee has increased, and is now $500 per year. The City of Philadelphia requires most large commercial, multi-unit residential, or mixed-use properties, to purchase private trash service. But you are eligible to use the City service, with weekly limits on the amount of trash and recyclables set out at the curb.

You must pay the City Refuse Collection Fee, or qualify for an eligible exemption. Act within 60 days, to avoid interest and penalties. You have three options:

Weekly set-out limits:

The maximum amount of non-recyclable trash allowed on the curb weekly is six, 32-gallon receptacles or 12 plastic bags, or an equivalent combination of the two. There is no limit on recyclables. If the property exceeds set-out limits, the City will issue a fine.
